

RED CROSS WAR FUND

VOL. XXXVIII—NO. 250

CREDIT AMERICAN AERIAL GUNNERS WITH DOWNING OF 48 INTERCEPTORS DURING BLOWS AT LUFTWAFFE CENTER

Fortress Gunners Account for Nine of Nazi Craft, While 39 Others Downed by Fighter Planes—Paris and Luxembourg Stations Go Off the Air

By Charles A. Smith
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Mar. 30.—(INS)—American aerial gunners were credited officially today with the destruction of 48 enemy interceptors during yesterday's daylight blows at the big Luftwaffe production center of Brunswick, Germany.

In a communique issued soon after big British night bombers settled down from attacks on enemy-occupied Europe, headquarters of the Eighth U. S. Air Force announced that Fortress gunners accounted for nine of the Nazi craft. Earlier, it had been disclosed that 39 others had been downed by fighter planes.

The preliminary British communique announcing last night's attacks did not identify the targets. However, the German radio reported that "nuisance raiders" were over the western sections of the Reich shortly after midnight and a few minutes later the Paris and Luxembourg stations went off the air.

The night attacks came on the heels of yesterday's American daylight blows against the aircraft production center of Brunswick, Germany, and the Pas De Calais sector of the French invasion coast. Thirty-nine Nazi craft were shot down during furious air battles by speedy fighters which escorted the heavy bombardment units, but the toll taken by the Fortresses and planes bagged on the ground—was not yet known.

The big B-17's and their Mustang-Thunderbolt—Lightning fighter screen met tough opposition for the first time in recent days as they hammered at Brunswick, one of the most important Luftwaffe production centers in all Germany. Some Liberators—and the number of returning bomber formations reported being assaulted by as many as 156 deadly Focke-Wulf-190's, but the day's American losses were limited to nine bombers and nine fighters.

Philadelphians Are Wed At Ceremony in Bristol

Philadelphians were wed here on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, the nuptial ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. E. Preston Haas in the Bristol Methodist Church parsonage.

The contracting parties were Miss Geneva Andrus Stone, daughter of Mrs. Bessie Stone, and 2nd Lt. Earl S. Cunningham, of the U. S. Army Air Corps.

Attending the ceremony were several members of the Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. Bessie Stone, mother of the bride, being state secretary of the Assembly.

House-Warming, Birthday Party Tendered Mrs. Ellis

Mrs. Annie Ellis, Wilson street, formerly of Beaver street, was feted by several friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Walters, last evening. The occasion marked Mrs. Ellis' 75th birthday anniversary, and also was in the form of a house-warming.

The guests enjoyed a social time and refreshments, and presented Mrs. Ellis with gifts.

LOCAL WEATHER OBSERVATIONS

FOR 24 HOUR PERIOD ENDING 8 A. M.
AT ROOM & HAAS WEATHER OBSERVATORY
BRISTOL, PA.

Temperature Readings
Maximum	41 F
Minimum	36 F
Range	5 F
Hourly Temperatures
8 a. m. yesterday	40
9	40
10	41
11	41
12 noon	38
1 p. m.	37
2	38
3	40
4	41
5	41
6	40
7	39
8	39
9	39
10	39
11	40
12 midnight	40
1 a. m. today	40
2	40
3	39
4	39
5	37
6	37
7	36
8	37

P. C. Relative Humidity 97
Precipitation (inches) 77

TIDES AT BRISTOL

High water ... 8.41 a. m., 9.08 p. m.
Low water ... 3.18 a. m., 3.51 p. m.

THE BRISTOL COURIER

BRISTOL, PA., THURSDAY EVENING, MARCH 30, 1944

DAILY WEATHER REPORT

Cloudy and cold today. Fair and slightly colder tonight. Friday fair and warmer.

Price: 2¢ a Copy; 10¢ a Week

THE RED CROSS - - -

This is only one of the many services of the American Red Cross:

At the close of the last fiscal year the American Red Cross Motor Corps numbered 26,604 members, all of whom were trained in standard and advanced first aid, and in motor mechanics. Their duty is to drive ambulances and other mobile equipment, to co-operate with the armed forces and in an emergency, with Civilian Defense authorities.

It is announced by the War Fund committee of the Bristol Branch of American Red Cross that names of contributors for amounts less than $5 will not be published.

The Bristol Branch quota is $87,800.00.

Checks may be mailed to Bristol Red Cross War Fund, P. O. Box 211.

Acknowledged Today
William H. Grundy Co., Inc.	$1,500.00
Hunter Mfg. Corp.	1,500.00
Hunter Mfg. Corp. (Employees)	985.00
Superior Zinc Corporation	175.00
Thomas L. Leedom Co.	100.00
Thomas L. Leedom Co. (Employees)	98.50
Edgely Brass (Employees)	42.50
D. Landreth Seed Company (Employees)	32.00
C. R. Himes	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Monti	5.00
Anna Bellerby	5.00
Elizabeth Renson	5.00
Mitchel Ancker, Sr.	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Iannucci	5.00
Cash	58.00
Mrs. Chas. Carroll	5.00
Miss Mildred Gentlemen	5.00
Alice W. N. Des Rosters, R. N.	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Angus Gillies, Sr.	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Fred Featherstone	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Sokel	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Walter Hendricks	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. William Bair	8.50
Mr. & Mrs. Charles Werry	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Pettit	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. Carl Nelson	5.00
A Friend	10.00
Mr. & Mrs. Wilson Black	5.00
Mr. & Mrs. William Pauls-worth	5.00
Carl Riedel	5.00
Cash	63.50
Contributed	$ 4,668.00
Previously acknowledged	30,655.95
Total today	$35,323.95

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

(By International News Service)

Violent hand-to-hand combat raging within the outskirts of Cernauti, considered the gateway to the Balkans, highlighted a general Red army advance today which threatened an early breakthrough into Czechoslovakia, Romania and Hungary.

With the German's last north-south railroad east of the Carpathian Mountains already severed at a point only 30 miles distant from the Tartar Pass entrance to the Hungarian plains, other mighty Red army forces marked time along approximately 100 miles of the lower Prut river opposite Romania proper. They were expected to renew their offensive into the Balkan state at any moment.

The stream was breached in at least two places already. Both these localities were on the fringe of Cernauti, vital railroad junction and once the third largest city of pre-war Romania. The Red army smashed its way across the stream both north and west of the town, and engaged the Nazi garrison in fighting which cost the enemy heavy losses.

Continued On Page Six

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEAINED BY SCRIBES

That the German line soldiers, particularly, are very considerate and good to American prisoners of war interned in German camps, was the information received by friends in Doylestown, from Pvt. Thomas F. Devlin, Jr., Army Medical Corps, who is stationed at the General Hospital, Fort Devens, Mass., and who has had an opportunity to talk with some of the former prisoners of war who recently returned on the exchange ship, the Gripsholm.

Although it is difficult to get any very specific information because of Army restrictions, Pvt. Devlin was able to learn that the American soldiers in Germany are treated as well as could be under the conditions of the country. The monotony of the prisoners' diet is supplemented by supplies from the American Red Cross.

Lydia Elizabeth Ghegan, aged 87, wife of Harry C. Ghegan, for about 25 years residents of Mechanicsville, died Sunday on their 59th wedding anniversary of ailments incident to old age.

Born in Bordentown, N. J., Mrs. Ghegan was a daughter of the late George and Matilda Leconey. Prior to locating in Mechanicsville about a quarter of a century ago, Mr. and Mrs. Ghegan lived in Palmyra, N. J. During the past few months they resided at a convalescent home at New Britain.

The deceased was formerly a member of the Mechanicsville Sunshine Club and the missionary society of the Mechanicsville chapel. She was a member of the Episcopal Church in Palmyra, N. J.

Mrs. Ghegan's only near survivor is her husband.

Little difficulty was experienced in disposing of farm implements and household articles at a sale held this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Yunger, near Dublin.

The sale, which was in charge of I. D. Derstine, Blooming Glen, was attended by more than 200 persons, and in general good prices were received.

Mr. Yunger, who now is in the real estate business, operated the property for about 25 years. He has sold the property of about 64 acres to Harold S. Barnes, New York City, and expects to buy another in the near future.

Shoats sold rather slowly at an average of about $10 each, and 120 Leghorn hens brought $12.22 each.

ATTENTION C. A. P. CADETS

All Civil Air Patrol Cadets are requested to assemble at the Bristol high school building, tomorrow, at 6.15 p. m. They will go to Philadelphia to hear General "Hap" Arnold speak to Civil Air Patrol Cadets in Convention Hall. There will also be a basketball game by Lower Merion high school team.

Anyone who can volunteer use of their car, phone Bristol 3024.

ACKNOWLEDGE $4,668 CONTRIBUTED TO THE RED CROSS WAR FUND; BRINGS TOTAL TO $35,324 TO DATE; QUOTA SET FOR BRISTOL BRANCH, $87,800

"Peggy" Corrigan Has A Party On Her Birthday

"Peggy" Corrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Corrigan, New Buckley street, was five years old on Monday and in the evening had a party at her home. Game prizes were awarded the winners. Refreshments were served, and favors were yellow and green candy baskets. "Peggy" received many gifts.

Those present: Eugene and Vera Downs, Arline and Darleen Briggs, Marie, Rosalie, Frances and Michael Kunz; Jack, Thomas and James Corrigan, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kunz, Miss Rose Corrigan.

ORGANIZE A FILM LIBRARY FOR THE SCHOOLS IN BUCKS

Horace J. Luff, of Buckingham, is Named As the President

COVER MANY FIELDS

Initial Investment Covers History, Nature Study, Geography

The Bucks County Education Film Library was organized last week with Horace J. Luff, of Buckingham, as president. F. Eugene Klingler, of Upper Southampton, was named vice-president, and Paul L. Gruber, of the county supervisory staff, was designated as secretary.

Through the Bucks County Film Library the school boards will establish sound education films for instructional use. The initial investment of the library will go in the fields of history, nature study, geography, and science. The circulation of the films will begin next September.

At the present time, sound committees are working on selections of appropriate instructional materials.

The Bucks County schoolmen are depending largely upon the advice of the audio-visual aids authorities of the Philadelphia public schools, where such materials have been in use for many years.

Thus far, twelve schools have indicated their interest in becoming a member of the sound film library. Bristol Township school children contributed $100 last fall to get this library started.

Surprise Miss Farruggio At An Evening Party

A surprise birthday party was given in honor of Miss Carmella Farruggio by her sister, Miss Eva Farruggio, Tuesday evening, at their home on Mansion street.

A buffet supper was served. A bouquet of flowers was the table centerpiece.

Those present: The Misses Frances Asta, Frances and Elizabeth Di Gregorio, Ann Martini, Gloria Greco, "Betty" Louder, Dora Farruggio, Rita and Josephine Navetta, Pvt. Robert Monti, Joseph Galzerano, Dean Petino, Joseph Farruggio.

Miss Farruggio received many gifts.

LUNCHEON AND MEETING

A covered dish luncheon is to precede the meeting of Legion Auxiliary in the Bracken Post home tomorrow evening. The meal will be served at seven o'clock. The session is advanced one week, due to April 7th being Good Friday.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Triple-Pronged Blow Dealt Occupied France and Reich

London—RAF bombers dealt occupied France and the Reich a triple-pronged blow last night, the British Air Ministry announced today, in an assault which hammered at rail yards, aircraft factories and other strategic objectives.

(The FCC quoted the Berlin home radio broadcast a warning at 2 p. m., that "enemy planes are over western Germany.")

Railway objectives at Vaires, 15 miles east of Paris, were assaulted by the RAF bombers and Mosquitos hit at Kiel and unannounced targets in western Germany. Only one bomber was lost.

Shortly after the British craft returned to base, headquarters of the Eighth American Air Force announced that 48 enemy interceptors were shot down during yesterday's daylight attack on the aircraft center of Brunswick, Germany.

Ideals of Atlantic Charter Still Britain's "Dominating Aim"

London—Reassurance that the statements and ideals of the Atlantic Charter still remain Britain's "dominating aim" was given today to a questioning House of Commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Churchill, in response to a question as to whether revision or modification of the Charter was contemplated, said bluntly:

"As I have said, the Atlantic Charter and its principles remain our dominating aim and purpose."

Continued On Page Six

Morrisville Club Will Hear Dr. M. M. Dorizas

MORRISVILLE, Mar. 30.—Dr. Michael M. Dorizas, professor of geography at the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, will be the speaker tonight at the Morrisville Rotary Club meeting. J. Percy Haines, president, will call the meeting to order at 6.15 o'clock at Murphy's Grill, Trenton, N. J.

Dr. Dorizas will lecture on "Russia Today." A prominent professor at the university, he was born in Constantinople of Greek parents and graduated from Robert College where he was a member of the famous Greek Olympic team.

FBI AGENT TO SPEAK TO SCHOOL DIRECTORS

"Juvenile Delinquency" To Be Subject at Doylestown Meeting

ON THE 19TH OF APRIL

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is sending a special agent to address the Bucks County School Directors' Association on "Juvenile Delinquency" at its next meeting in Doylestown, on Wednesday, April 19th.

This spring meeting of the School Directors' Association will be held in the Doylestown high school auditorium. The presentation by the special agent of the FBI will be followed by a panel discussion on "How May Our Schools Help to Prevent Juvenile Delinquency?"

Leonard Miller, Chief of Occupational Information and Guidance, Department of Public Instruction, will be chairman of the panel. Other members of this panel will be: Hiram Keller, Bucks County judge; Edward Blester, Bucks County district attorney; Howard Kemp, county controller; Mrs. Rose Flood, president, Bucks County Council of P. T. A.; W. W. Williamson, Bridgeton Twp. School Board; David M. Rau, secretary of Durham Township School Board; Zachary Wobensmith, Warwick Township School Board; Dr. Ruth Fedder, Psychologist of County Supervisory Staff; Mrs. Mary Jacoby Fleetman, County Home Economics Representative; Harry Ward, Special Counselor of the

Continued On Page Six

Dr. Frederick A. Bothe, of Philadelphia, will be guest speaker at the April meeting of the Bucks County Medical Society to be held in the Fountain House, Doylestown, Wednesday noon, April 12th.

Dr. Bothe will discuss "Hypothyroidism," the condition due to excessive activity of the thyroid gland.

Taylor To Make Swing Through Pennsylvania

By John Paget

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 30.—(INS)—Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor disclosed today that he will make a pre-campaign swing through Pennsylvania to "put the finishing touches" to GOP plans for the Fall election.

"I'll get out through the State before the general election campaign starts," he said, "and confer with our party leaders in order to have everything ready for the opening gun."

Republicans hope to carry Pennsylvania for the GOP Presidential standard-bearer for the first time since 1932 and capture five State-wide offices, a U. S. Senatorship and a majority of the State's Congressional delegation, along with other more minor posts.

Taylor revealed his plans after he and Gov. Edward Martin conferred with former Lt. Gov. Samuel S. Lewis, of York, at the State Capitol. The Statewide organization slate is unopposed in the April 25 primary balloting except for one Superior Court contest.

Lewis, a political aide of former Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, who is a power in Republican councils, supported U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh, in the 1942 gubernatorial primary election against Martin. Davis, long at regular odds with the organization, won its endorsement recently for the first time as a candidate for a fourth term. He defeated Grundy for the Republican Senatorial nomination.

Woman Pays $25 Fine; Stole Tools Worth $85

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 30.—(INS)—Mrs. Leola Vera Mattes, former welder at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, had been "let off easy" today with a $25 fine after pleading guilty in Federal Court to taking $85 worth of tools from the Navy Yard.

Mrs. Mattes, mother of three children, was fined by Federal Judge Guy K. Bard for taking the tools. Evidence indicated, Judge Bard said, that the woman simply had made a "mistake."

Under Navy Yard regulations, employees may borrow tools for their work upon presentation of small metal checks which are redeemed when the employee returns the tools. Mrs. Mattes said that tools found in her Harbor home were ones she had borrowed from other employees who had left the Yard or had been transferred to other departments, making it impossible for her to locate them.

Spring Musicales Being Arranged at Newtown

NEWTOWN, Mar. 30.—A spring musicale will be presented under auspices of the Newtown Exchange Club on the 10th of April. This will also afford the opportunity fund of the club.

Featured on the program will be "Nan" Merriman, soprano; Vincent Sorey and his orchestra, a vocal ensemble, a Spanish dancer and three local artists.

The vocal ensemble consists of G. Krisson and John Gallian, tenors; Mary Little and Katherine Calec, sopranos, and Mary Pisani, mezzo-soprano.

The local talent includes Miss Barbara Ann Cooke, Newtown, soprano, who is a senior at Ursinus College, Collegeville. Miss Cooke has studied voice for four years with Miss Marian Spangler, of Collegeville, former director of the Ursinus College choir and present director of the Valley Forge Memorial Chapel choir. Two George School students, Boake Carus, cellist, and Walter Reuben, accordionist, will also present solo groups.

The program is being arranged by a committee of the Exchange Club, assisted by Wynn Wright, of near Newtown; Vincent Sorey, and Julian P. McCreary, director of music at George School.

Mrs. Charles Doan Is Feted at Two Affairs

The choir members of Bristol Methodist Church tendered Mrs. Charles Doan, Pond street, a surprise farewell party on Thursday evening.

Dinner was served at Bowen's Restaurant, and a social time followed. Mrs. Doan was presented with a house-coat. Twenty-one were present.

On Friday evening Mrs. Doan was the guest of honor at a party held at the home of Mrs. Harold Coon, Jefferson avenue. Games were followed by refreshments. Those attending presented Mrs. Doan with a piece of jewelry. Participants were Misses Irene and Violet Ruth Ranck, Sara Ellis, Dorothy Worthington, Louise Smoyer, Bristol; Mrs. Samuel Smith, Edgely.

Dr. Frederick A. Bothe To Address Medical Men

Dr. Frederick A. Bothe, of Philadelphia, will be guest speaker at the April meeting of the Bucks County Medical Society to be held in the Fountain House, Doylestown, Wednesday noon, April 12th.

Dr. Bothe will discuss "Hypothyroidism," the condition due to excessive activity of the thyroid gland.

COMMUNITY GARDENS AVAILABLE IN COUNTY

Now is Time to Make Application for Plots, It is Announced

IMPORTANT ACTIVITY

Community Victory Gardens are again available in every section of Bucks county, but now is the time to make application for plots to be used this year. William E. Wolfe, of Doylestown, Bucks county chairman of the Victory Garden Committee for the Bucks County Council of Defense, announced today.

No movement in the history of the nation ever was carried on in a more successful manner than the Victory Garden idea in 1943, and it's twice as important this year that more gardens be planted so that much of the processed and canned food can be used for the armed forces.

Chairmen have been appointed throughout Bucks county as follows:

Mrs. Alpheus Reading, Chalfont (Lexington 4615); Mrs. Norman Lapp, New Britain (Doylestown 6856); Mrs. Earl Tomb, Bath road, Bristol (Bristol 3094); Mrs. Paul Bennett, Langhorne (Langhorne 2217); Mrs. Ray Poorbaugh, Quakertown (Quakertown 359-J); Mrs. Frank Benner, 523 Vine street, Perkasie (Perkasie 4501); Mrs. Amelia Harris, Croydon (Bristol 2626); Mrs. R. L. Bucher, Pineville (Wycombe 2236); Russell Paetzel, Upper Black Eddy; Mrs. John McGowan, Plumsteadville (Plumsteadville 2481); Mrs. Henry Flagler, Riegelsville; Mrs. Charles Granger, Dublin (Doylestown 7715); Mrs. John B. Force, Yardley (Yardley 2914); Mrs. Alfred Spratt, Buckingham and Mechanicsville (Buckingham 2418); Mrs. William Lynch, Davisville; Southampton, and Churchville (Churchville 1501); Mrs. Russell Shelly, Sellersville (Sellersville 2173); C. A. Tindall, 43 Fairview ave., Morrisville (Morrisville 3972); Ray K. Hagenbuch, Newtown (Newtown 2045); Mrs. G. Atlee Cadwallader, Warrington (Doylestown 7635); Fred Dietz, E. Court street, Doylestown (Doylestown 4082); L. W. Seidel, New Hope (New Hope 3316).

96 JURORS PICKED FOR DUTY AT APRIL TERM OF COURT

Forty-Three of The Group Drawn Are Women, It is Stated

COURT OPENS APRIL 7

April Term Will Hear Civil Cases Which Are Listed

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 30.—Ninety-six jurors have been drawn for duty at the April term of Bucks county civil court, starting Monday, April 17. The jurors were drawn by Sheriff Francis G. Myers and Jury Commissioners Lester D. Thorne, Bristol, and Herman Kirkpatrick, Quakertown. There are forty-three women on the list. The complete list is as follows:

Frank Angeny, Plumsteadville; Anna Alderfer, Perkasie RD 2; J. Harper Atkinson, Lahaska; Barbara H. Buckner, Dublin; Matthias Baur, Bristol; Maynard Barroa, Springtown; Mary Brooks, Jamison; Wilson Berlinger, Perkasie; Thomas J. Burns, Bristol; Charles A. Barndt, Perkasie; E. Clarence Buckman, Buckingham; Marian E. Bruner, Chalfont; Florence F. Canning, Harbor; Harvey F. Cochran, Bristol; Rose H. Curtin, Morrisville; Emma Lou Cronwell, Bristol RD 2; Harvey Cook, Perkasie; Frank Cook, Cornwells Heights; Aida C. Detweiler, Quakertown; Samuel G. Detweiler, Perkasie R. D. 2.

Ella C. Denny, Langhorne RD 2; Elias F. Dunn, Quakertown; Ada C. Devlin, S. Langhorne; Albert R. Etkner, Morrisville; Verna Foster, Bristol; Margaret T. Fox, Bristol; Jesse Fluke, Atglen; Elsie E. Ford, Andalusia; Earl R. Grim, Shelly; Frank Gombert, Sellersville RD 1; E. Earl Hollenbach, Riegelsville; Amelia Hayes, Eddington; Mildred M. Heimback, Sellersville RD 1; Harrison Hibbard, Doylestown; Arthur Hertzler, Silverdale; Helen V. Hart, Perkasie; Bertha Hill, Andalusia.

Frank S. Hibbs, Morrisville; Joseph A. Headley, Newtown; Kathryn W. Hall, Hatfield RD; Harvey Heimback, Quakertown RD 1; Elwood H. Harbar, Chalfont; Adaline B. Hammond, South Langhorne; Ella Harg, Perkasie RD 3; Katie Hilgendorf, Bristol RD 2; Grace H. Hartzel, Chalfont; Helen T. Johnson, Morrisville RD 1; Elizabeth Kohnhaas, Oakford; Mary B. Kilcoyne, Bristol RD 1; Dorothy H. Keller, Newtown; Joseph L. Krager, Ivyland; William J. Kane, Doylestown; Rachel N. Knowler, Doylestown; William K. Krout, Perkasie; Charles A. Kilmer, Jr., Quakertown RD 3; Elma Lamon, Croydon; Margaret Leach, Sellersville RD 1.

Harry E. Lacey, Morrisville; Roy Leffer, Morrisville; James Laughlin, Bristol RD; Susie S. Myers, Danboro; A. Griffin Miller, Newtown; Mary Macklin, Weiselt; A. Raymond Mann, Perkasie; George Mack, Chalfont; Bessie Musselman, Sellersville RD 1; William H. Moyer, Perkasie RD 2; Estella T. Martin, South Langhorne; Samuel L. Musselman, Perkasie; Henry I. Moyer, Jr., Perkasie.

Yardley Nelson, Doylestown; Walter Prickett, Bristol RD; John Potter, Oakford; Thomas S. Renner, Coopersburg RD; William W. Ritchie, Bristol; Angelina Riley, Bristol; Margaret L. Rittler, Bristol RD 1; Edna S. Shirley, Quakertown RD 1; Edward J. Slack, Newtown RD; Maud E. Stuckert, Newtown; Joseph H. Stover, Buckingham; George D. Snyder, Perkasie RD 3; Mildred L. Swartz, Bristol; Harry W. Spencer, Langhorne;

Continued On Page Six

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

AMARILLO ARMY AIR FIELD, AMARILLO, Texas, Mar. 30.—Samuel Janico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Janico, of 308 Brook street, Bristol, Pa., has completed his course of studies as an aviation mechanic in this Army Air Forces Technical Training School.

His graduation from this technical school now fits him for airplane maintenance and he will be sent to some air base where he will assist in keeping America's Flying Fortresses in the air for Allied victory.

In addition to completion of the schedule of academic and practical studies as an aviation mechanic, he has been thoroughly drilled in military tactics and defense and a course of physical training that has conditioned him to meet all requirements of an American soldier.

The Bristol Courier

Established 1910
Published Every Evening (Except Sundays) at Beaver and Garden Sts.,
Bristol, Pa., Bell Phone 846.
Only Daily Paper in Lower Bucks County.

BRISTOL PRINTING COMPANY
Owner and Publisher
Incorporated May 27, 1914
Serrill D. Dettelson, Managing Editor
Ellis E. Ratcliffe, Secretary
Leslie D. Thorne, Treasurer
Subscription Price per Year, in advance, $4.00; Six Months, $2.00; Three Months, $1.00.
The Courier is delivered by carrier in Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Croydon, Bridgewater, Andalusia, West
Bristol, Halmerville, Bath Addition,
Newportville and Torresdale Manor for ten cents a week.

JOB PRINTING
The Courier has the most complete commercial printing department in Bucks County. Work of any description promptly and satisfactorily done.
Entered as Second Class Mail matter at the Post Office at Bristol, Pa., under the Act of March 3, 1879.
"International News Service has the exclusive rights to use for republication in any form all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper. It is also exclusively entitled to use for republication all the local or undated news published herein."

THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1944

HOLY WEEK

Sunday, also known as Palm Sunday, marks the beginning of Holy Week with its culmination of the Lenten season. The day takes its name from the ancient ceremony which commemorates the entering, for the last time, into Jerusalem, of Christ, when the multitude, bearing palm and olive branches, went out to meet Him with cries of "Hosanna."

Only a few days later, the Savior, reviled and mocked by the populace, was put to death as a common criminal. There is to be gained from a contemplation of this peculiar circumstance a pertinent and significant lesson—that unaided man is capable of making terrible judgments.

Christians, however, recognizing this defect in the human character, have banded together in the observance of Lent as a time of mortification, for it is known that spiritual strength cannot come with a sufficiency of worldly goods but only through acts of self-denial and through prayer. And during the Holy Week, when the last days of earth of Christ are commemorated, mortification and prayer are even more worthy.

For just as Lent recalls the Savior's fast in the desert, as Good Friday calls to mind His Death on Calvary, so Holy Week is an especial time for the performance of acts of penance.

Palm Sunday and Holy Week ought not to be allowed to pass without the addition of some spiritual strength to the life of every one. It is man's duty to attend to his spiritual welfare. The final days of Lent offer a fitting time for the performance of this duty.

MAN WITH A HOE

The hero with the hoe is amusing himself for the spring battle, encouraged by his performance last season and by the exhortations of his government. A large part of the food supply of the home front depends upon his efforts. He can take himself seriously now on.

The amateur farmer has always been an inviting target for humorists. By word and picture they have belittled his efforts, made fun of his crops and lent prestige to his enemies, the beetles and the rabbits.

So low had the amateur gardener sunk in his own estimation that he joined the humorists in self defense, mocking his own defeats and pretending that he gardened only to improve the fund of national humor.

All that is changed this year. The remarkable record made last year in thousands of back yards and vacant lots, and the knowledge that the country depends upon another amateur crop of vegetables this year, has wrought a transformation. The lapsed humorist is over.

The amateur, rapidly becoming an expert in the art of making things grow, can handle his hoe with pride and self confidence. His garden instruments and spraying devices are no longer toys of a childish nature—they are sturdy weapons against the enemy.

NEWS BRIEFS FROM SUBURBAN TOWNS

HULMEVILLE

Mrs. Samuel K. Faust and George Douglas spent the week-end at Richmond, Va., where they visited the former's son, Sgt. Kimbel Faust, of the U. S. Army.

Mrs. Charles Potter, of McKinley Avenue, is ill at the home of her mother in Philadelphia.

A meeting of the primary department council of Neshaunmy Methodist Church is to be conducted tomorrow evening at eight o'clock at the home of Mrs. Roger Burns.

MORRISVILLE

Camp No. 297, P. O. of A. will serve a fresh ham and baked bean supper this evening at Grace Methodist Church social hall.

Mrs. Daniel Branstetter will be hostess this evening to members of the Clara Burgess Guild.

A reception is to be tendered the Rev. Guy Everly and family in Grace Methodist Church on Friday evening.

ANDALUSIA

Mrs. Harold Wilkins, of Germantown, and Mrs. John Wilkins and son, of Edlington, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oliver.

Mrs. Gladys Marten spent the week-end in Atlantic City, N. J. William Roeger, of the U. S. Navy, who has been stationed at Bainbridge, Md., is home on a nine day furlough.

Miss Betty Paine is very ill. On Tuesday evening the St. Agnes Guild gave a party in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Arthur F. Gibson after a delicious dinner, ice cream and cake were served.

Those present: Mrs. Harry Wilkins, Mrs. Watson Wright, Mrs. P. Bentz, Mrs. Arthur Freas, Mrs.

LANGHORNE

Harry Richardson, Mrs. Harry Oliver, Hester and Barbara Wright. Mrs. P. Bentz has returned home after spending some time with relatives in Frankford.

Classified Ads deliver the goods

The employees of the People's National Bank and Trust Company held a dinner in Philadelphia on Tuesday evening in honor of bank

WAVES Teach Navy Pilots Gunnery

WAVES operate synthetic gunnery training devices—not actual aircraft machine guns—but this girl is finding out what the real thing is like. Hundreds of Navy fliers who today are shooting down Jap and Nazi planes received their primary machine gun training under tutelage of the girls in Navy blue. The Navy needs—and needs now—thousands of girls for exciting, as well as prosaic, jobs with the WAVES. Information is available at any Navy Recruiting Station or Office of Naval Officer Procurement.

THE RED CARNATION by BURTON STEVENSON

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

It was a few minutes before two on Monday afternoon when Tony Bigelow, accompanied by an unusually lovely girl who drew admiring glances from the men on duty, arrived at Detective Headquarters and mounted to Lieutenant James Duffy's office on the second floor. They found Duffy waiting for them. The dictograph was there, too, plugged into a wall socket. On the floor by Duffy's desk was the old suitcase, on a table in one corner the number six Underwood typewriter. At Duffy's elbow lay the little automatic with its stock of carved ivory.

"This is Miss Scott, Jim," said Tony. "Dr. Metcalf's secretary—you remember her. And, Miss Scott, this is Lieutenant James Duffy."

"Of course I remember Miss Scott," said Duffy, placing a chair for her. "I brought her along, Jim," Tony explained, "because I wanted her to listen to that record. She is used to the machine."

"That will be fine," Duffy broke in. "Come in," he called, as someone tapped at the door. It was the man from the dictograph company, and he was not over-optimistic. "I've rigged up an amplifier, he said, 'but I can't say how it will work or whether it will work at all. It all depends on what's on the record. It can't bring out anything more than is there. This the machine?"

"That's it," said Duffy. "Do your best."

The man went to work. "It's our last hope, I guess," remarked Tony gloomily. "It looks that way," Duffy agreed. "Remember, I have promised to turn all this stuff over to Metcalf at three o'clock this afternoon. I told him to come here and get it."

"It's all ready, gentlemen," put in the dictograph man. "Before we hear that record," Duffy explained, "I want to ask Miss Scott a few questions about the machine and about the records Metcalf made on it. Confound it," he added, as there was another tap at the door. "Come in!"

It was the doorman. "Mr. Metcalf to see you, sir," he said. "Mr. Schneider is with him."

Duffy glanced at his watch. "They're almost an hour ahead of time," he said, hesitated, and looked at Tony. "Suppose we have them in and slip our cards on the table," he suggested, smiling grimly.

"All right," said the columnist. Duffy met his visitors at the door. Nobody could have been more cordial. "Come in, Mr. Metcalf," he said. "Hello, Herschel. You know Doc, of course, and Miss Scott, Dr. Metcalf's secretary."

Schneider nodded to Tony and then to the girl. "Looks like a post-mortem," he remarked.

"Only that there are one or two things about his death still puzzling me—a little."

"Such as what?"

"That bullet hole in the floor near his chair," Duffy answered, looking at him keenly. But if Schneider was surprised he showed no trace of it.

"Is there a bullet hole in the floor?" he queried.

"Yes, we found it yesterday."

"Oh, yes," said Schneider. "I heard that you and Tony were being about the place yesterday afternoon. So that's what you were looking for. How did it get there?"

"We sort of thought you might have put it there," said Duffy.

"What in blazes do you mean by that?" the lawyer demanded.

"Only that Tony happened to remember he had advised you to do something like that, in case you ever killed a man and wanted to make it look like suicide."

"Astounding!" Schneider remarked, with an amused smile. "I believe Tony did suggest something like that."

The lawyer's eyelids were half-lowered, but he was entirely at ease.

"We've also been wondering, too, about that man Stockbridge," Duffy went on.

"Stockbridge?"

"Yes—Herbert Stockbridge. Same initials as yours—another coincidence, of course. He said he was a lawyer and lived at 2335 Bancroft Place, in Washington. Ever hear of him?"

"No, I never heard of him."

"Nobody else ever did," said the detective, "and there is no such number on Bancroft Place."

"Well, what about him?" Schneider asked.

"He took the 10:30 plane for Washington Thursday night," Duffy explained; "took a taxi from the Washington airport to the Union Station, and then another one from the station to the Mayflower Hotel. Kind of a roundabout way to get there, don't you think?"

"Well," countered the lawyer, "suppose he drove all over town, what of it?"

"At the Mayflower he seems to have registered as Herschel Schneider," answered Duffy gently.

"Nobody could impersonate me at the Mayflower," retorted Schneider.

"They know me too well."

"Of course not," Duffy agreed. "We know quite well that it was you who registered at the Mayflower. But it occurred to us that maybe you had impersonated Stockbridge."

"Oh, I see," said Schneider, his eyes narrower still. "So that's what you're driving at. All right. Go ahead. I always enjoy seeing a man make a fool of himself."

"That night I talked with you at Lindy's," said Tony, "Wednesday night, it was—you asked me whether young Terry heard McKibben say anything just before he was shot."

"I don't see anything incriminating in that," Schneider retorted.

"I told you that Terry thought he heard McKibben say 'Oh, hush,' but it has been suggested that what he really said was 'Hello, Herschel,' and that the shot drowned out the last syllable."

"That's all right," said Tony. "I'll tell you why," the columnist retorted. "I may be afflicted with too much imagination, as you say, but there is one fact you can't get around: I happen to know that Metcalf could not possibly have killed McKibben."

"So you know that, do you?" Schneider asked, his face flushed.

"Yes, I know it. Metcalf wasn't alone Monday night. He had somebody with him."

"The woman in the case, eh?" the lawyer laughed. "And you believe that old stuff?"

"As it happens, the woman ready to come forward."

"Dear Myron," he read, "If there is ever any question as to why I killed John McKibben, I want it understood that it was because he was stealing dictograph records from my cabinet and using them to blackmail my patients. He was an utter scoundrel and I have no regrets."

"Jerome Metcalf."

Copyright, by Burton Stevenson
Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

teller William J. Palmer, who will enter the service.

Miss Blanche M. Webster, of the Woods School staff, left on Monday for a two months' vacation in her home state, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Robert Leedom has been suffering with an infection of the eye.

Mrs. Clarence Buckman has returned from a visit with relatives in Harrisburg.

Major Golden Macknall and Cpl. Albert B. Tomlinson, residents of Langhorne, met each other in Italy the early part of March. Major Macknall is a former Langhorne physician, and has been overseas 13 months.

Ira L. Kinney left on Wednesday for the Episcopal Hospital, Philadelphia, where he will undergo an operation on his eye.

Margot Macknall, of Germantown, is spending some time with Miss Mabel Pidecock.

Mrs. Floyd C. Marlatt entertained members of the Friendly Sewing Circle at luncheon, on Thursday, at her home.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Rated one of the year's breeziest comedy-musicals, "Hi-Ya, Sailor," comes today to the Grand Theatre. Featured in the new tunefilm are Donald Woods and Elyse Knox, Edie Quillan and Jerome Cowan. Other favorites among the support-players are Frank Jenks and Phyllis Brooks.

The plot for "Calling Dr. Death," now at the Grand Theatre, is constructed upon the professional methods of a successful neurologist who secures relief for his mentally ill patients, through delving into their sub-conscious minds by hypnosis.

RITZ THEATRE

To those in the know, there's another "Information Please" which

Cradle Counsel

BY JEAN MERRITT

How to Grow a Gourmet

Eating is one of the major joys of life—a love of good food among life's greatest blessings. This boon is vouchsafed each of us at birth. We start life with a perfect palate. A palate as delicately attuned to taste and texture as the most subtle epicure's.

Time and the vicissitudes of the table may have dulled somewhat the sensitivity of your taste buds. Preferences and prejudice stifled your early rapture towards good food. But in your baby is re-born this opportunity for pleasure. You should see that his chance for life-long satisfaction is fulfilled.

Best way to grow a gourmet is to serve your baby fine food from the start. Introduce him early to the subtleties of taste and texture. Teach him to distinguish the true color, flavor, and aroma of choice food.

A perfect opportunity to teach good eating habits is presented in strained foods. For these prepared foods, which are now being served to tiny babies, have all the essentials needed to cultivate a discriminating taste in food.

They have a fine-grained texture as smooth as satin to the tongue. They run the gamut of food flavors, being made of fruits, vegetables, cereals, and meats. Their colors are pure and strong, as clear in tone as an unadulterated chroma. Their aromas are sweet, fresh, and as natural as the day they left the garden, the orchard, and the field.

What's more, strained foods may be used as a medium for introducing more sophisticated tastes to toddlers; for they are superbly suited to blending with other, later foods.

Given below, for instance, is a recipe in which strained prunes or apple sauce have been combined with rice to teach maturer tastes and textures.

Thus strained foods not only help baby savor his first foods with pleasure, but they widen the scope of his future joys, as well.

Creamy Rice Pudding with Prune Sauce

In top of double boiler sealed—

- 1 cup milk.
- Add, cooking until rice is tender—
- 2 tablespoons rice
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar.

Pour some of above hot mixture into—

- 1 egg yolk, beaten.

Combine remainder thoroughly and heat for 1 minute.

Add—

- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.

Chill.

Combine, blending thoroughly—

- 1 can (1/2 cup) strained prunes or strained apple sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar.

Serve creamy rice pudding with sauce on top.

is just as familiar as the encyclopedia-giver-away of the air waves. "Information Please" is what Columbia Picture Studios in Hollywood calls the questionnaire on birth date, past performances, hobbies, etc., given to each actor and actress after signing a contract for a forthcoming production. On reading that made out by Kenny Baker, the singing star of "Doughboys in Ireland," soldier comedy-musical showing at the Ritz Theatre, one of the first things which catches the eye is: "I like honest publicity, dislike phony stuff."

White smoke drifted lazily from the guns of the Ranger and Captain Jones and his men stood at attention. Their nerves were tense as they waited. There was an answering thud of heavy guns from the French frigate. Nine explosions rolled across the harbor and the men of both ships cheered loud and lustily.

THE RED CARNATION by BURTON STEVENSON

CHAPTER FORTY-SIX

Schneider sat looking at him for a moment. "Oh, now I get it!" he sneered. "Now I understand. I'm the one who is being framed. And the woman is ready to come forward! All right, let her come forward. Who is she?"

His smoldering gaze passed from one to the other and finally came to rest on the girl. She was staring back at him, his face livid. "What did you say this woman's name is? Scott? . . . Why, I know who she is—she's Fortanjo Scott's sister . . ."

The girl was on her feet, her face like death. "That is true, Herschel Schneider," she said hoarsely. "I am Carmelita Scotti. You sent my brother to the chair with you, lies, and I'm going to send you . . ."

She had snapped her handbag open and was fumbling blindly in it. "Sit down, Miss," broke in Duffy sharply, his face very grim. "Give me that bag." He snatched it from her, glanced into it, and laid it on his desk.

"There's no weapon there," she said, with emphasis. "I was looking for my handkerchief. May I have it, please?" Duffy passed it to her. "What I have been telling you is true," she went on after a moment. "That man has murdered three men!"

"Nonsense! Utter rot!" remarked Schneider wearily. "Let's finish this. The girl's crazy. Give Duffy that letter, please."

Metcalf drew a letter from his pocket and handed it to the detective.

"What's this?" Duffy asked.

"A letter from my brother," Metcalf answered, "which I received just this morning. I showed it to Mr. Schneider and he suggested that I bring it along this afternoon. And I want to say that I resent all this talk. That girl isn't to be trusted. I fired her Saturday because I found her prying into things which were none of her business. It is my belief that she is the one who stole those records for McKibben."

"Wait a minute," Duffy broke in. "One thing at a time. Suppose we see first what this letter is." He looked at the envelope. "Addressed to Mr. Myron Metcalf, Plainville, Connecticut. That's you, is it?"

"Yes, that's me," said Metcalf. "Stamped at the West Sixty-ninth Street substation at nine o'clock Friday morning. Received at Plainville at five o'clock Friday afternoon. Redirected to you at the Central Park West address and received today."

"All right," said Duffy, and slipped the letter out of its envelope and opened it, holding it carefully by the edges. "Written with pen and ink on one of Dr. Metcalf's letterheads," he went on.

"Now let's see what it says: 'Dear Myron,' he read, 'If there is ever any question as to why I killed John McKibben, I want it understood that it was because he was stealing dictograph records from my cabinet and using them to blackmail my patients. He was an utter scoundrel and I have no regrets.'

"Jerome Metcalf."

Duffy glanced in the girl's direction. Her eyes had not wavered from Schneider.

"And her history certainly isn't above reproach," the lawyer added. "Have you taken her fingerprints?"

"Of course."

"Did you find any of her prints on the dictograph, or on the steel cabinet Metcalf kept his records in?"

"Yes, as well as around the office generally. Though that's natural enough."

"But you didn't take the trouble to look through her room, wherever it is?"

There was a moment's dazed silence. "Do you recognize the writing, Mr. Metcalf?" Duffy asked at last.

"Certainly. It's my brother's. My belief is that he wrote it Thursday night just before he shot himself, and dropped it in the mail chute at his apartment house."

"How about you, Miss Scotti?" She came forward slowly, her face like death, and looked closely at the letter.

"Yes," she said at last, almost in a whisper, "that is Dr. Metcalf's writing."

"I'll check it, of course," declared Duffy, as he slipped the letter back into its envelope. "But I guess that settles it."

Herschel Schneider yawned slightly and settled back in his chair with a smile of satisfaction which he made no effort to conceal.

Tony Bigelow felt himself flushing. He should have seen at once how silly it was to suppose that a man as clever as the astute Schneider . . .

The columnist glanced sharply at the lawyer, but the latter did not meet his eyes. He was gazing sardonically at Carmelita Scotti, who sat crouched in her chair, crushed. As she caught his look, she jerked herself rigidly erect and stared back at him . . .

It was Schneider who looked away first, turning to Duffy, who was tapping absently on his desk, his face a blank.

"You might find it worth while Jim, to look into the suggestion I made a while ago," the lawyer remarked lazily.

"Which suggestion?" Duffy asked.

"About the young lady yonder, who is so anxious to send me to the chair. It's evident from that letter," Schneider went on, "that Metcalf knew McKibben had been stealing his records, but I don't see how he could have done it without some assistance—inside assistance," he added dryly.

"They were not stolen," Tony put in. "They were duplicated. Metcalf found the originals all in place when he got them out and destroyed them."

"How do you know that?" Schneider asked. "Oh, I suppose this girl told you," he went on, as Tony hesitated, "so it may or may not be true. But it makes no difference. My suggestion is that the one person in the world who had every opportunity to juggle with those records was Metcalf's secretary."

Duffy glanced in the girl's direction. Her eyes had not wavered from Schneider.

"And her history certainly isn't above reproach," the lawyer added. "Have you taken her fingerprints?"

"Of course."

"Did you find any of her prints on the dictograph, or on the steel cabinet Metcalf kept his records in?"

"Yes, as well as around the office generally. Though that's natural enough."

"But you didn't take the trouble to look through her room, wherever it is?"

There was a moment's dazed silence. "Do you recognize the writing, Mr. Metcalf?" Duffy asked at last.

"Certainly. It's my brother's. My belief is that he wrote it Thursday night just before he shot himself, and dropped it in the mail chute at his apartment house."

"How about you, Miss Scotti?" She came forward slowly, her face like death, and looked closely at the letter.

"Yes," she said at last, almost in a whisper, "that is Dr. Metcalf's writing."

"I'll check it, of course," declared Duffy, as he slipped the letter back into its envelope. "But I guess that settles it."

Herschel Schneider yawned slightly and settled back in his chair with a smile of satisfaction which he made no effort to conceal.

Tony Bigelow felt himself flushing. He should have seen at once how silly it was to suppose that a man as clever as the astute Schneider . . .

It was Schneider who looked away first, turning to Duffy, who was tapping absently on his desk, his face a blank.

"You might find it worth while Jim, to look into the suggestion I

Flavor Finds War Favor

Extending Seasoning, As Well As Meat, Is the Order of the Day

Flavor in food is one of its most attractive qualities. Most of the flavorful foods which were formerly abundant in the American diet are less plentiful now, so flavor extenders and flavor supplementers are the order of the day. Therefore, it is natural that the emphasis in wartime cookery should spotlight seasonings.

Jessie Alice Cline, home economist, explains that seasoning can help to perk up many meals. They are particularly helpful in adding zest to bland foods she says. These are a few of her suggestions.

Try Meat Curry

Add a little mustard and less cheese to the white sauce base of a cheese dish. The cheese will go further with small sacrifice of flavor.

Use the meat from a soup bone for a lamb, beef or veal curry. Much of the meat flavor has gone into the soup so meat flavor will not be sacrificed by the use of a fairly strong seasoning. Use only about one teaspoon of curry with one and one-half cups of meat until the family becomes acquainted with the flavor.

If onions become scarce this spring, onion salt or onion powder will bring out the flavor of meat just as effectively as the widely used vegetable itself.

Gravies are excellent meat extenders and can be used for flavor in many recipes that originally called for tomato sauce.

If left-over beef or veal gravy has been used to extend meat flavor in one dish, try serving the extra meat in a paprika cream sauce. This is a favorite Hungarian seasoning. Add one or two teaspoons to two cups of cream sauce, or if desired, enough may be added to actually color the sauce red.

Use Herb Seasonings

Many of the herb seasonings that have always been used with meat can be used in meat extender dishes to add to their flavor. A bay-leaf stuck in a rice extended meat loaf seasons it deliciously and helps to hide the fact that it isn't all meat.

A bread dressing flavored with sage seems to be a more successful meat extender than the bland bread alone. When possible try to make the dressing into a stuffing by cooking it inside the meat. It is sure to taste good that way.

Biscuits to top a meat pie have best when flavored with rosemary. Use one-half teaspoon rosemary in a standard biscuit recipe.

MORRISVILLE

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist Church plans a covered dish luncheon for Tuesday next in the social hall of the church. A business meeting will be held at two o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Charles Metz.

PRIOR BEER is brewed in America

WM. NEIS & SON, 124 E. State St., Doylestown
Telephone: Doylestown 4215

FREE Vimms
VITAMINS-MINERALS

50¢ size FREE when you buy large size $2.25 VALUE FOR $1.69

VITAMINS AND MINERALS GOVERNMENT EXPERTS SAY ARE NEEDED IN THE DAILY DIET

Di-Chloride Crystals lb 49c	J. & J. Baby Talc 21c & 43c
Modess, 54's 89c	Kotex, 54's 89c
Zonite Antiseptic 23c, 47c, 79c	Mifflin Alcohol pt 29c
Belfair Sanitary Napkins doz 15c	Mennen Antiseptic Baby Oil, 47c, 98c

LACTOGEN BABY FOOD lb. 89c, 2½ lbs. $1.99

BARBASOL
TUBES
19c - 39c

LIFEBUOY
SHAVING
CREAM, tube . 27c

WOODBURY
SOAP
4 cakes 29c

STRAUS' CUT-RATE

407 MILL ST.

BRISTOL

WORRY OF FALSE TEETH

SLIPPING OR IRRITATING!

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASE-TEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASE-TEETH at any drug store. (Advertisement)

PHILA. EXPRESS DAILY TRIPS

Farruggio's Express

901 Mansion St. Dial 2953
Philadelphia, 7 N. Front Street
Phone Market 3548

Dr. W. H. Smith

Chiropractic
Electro-Therapy
Light Therapy
Neuropathy, etc.

Hours:

Mornings and Afternoons by Appointment
Evenings, 6 to 9, without Appointment

Licensed since 1922

631 Cedar St. Phone 510

Women

Work on Either Morning or Afternoon Shifts

7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. OR 3:30 p. m. to 12

No Saturday or Sunday Work

Apply

Manhattan Soap Company

Radcliffe Street

or

U. S. Employment Service, 216 Mill St., Bristol

The Photographer is Back at Factors-To-You Furniture Store!

FINAL DAY . . . SATURDAY, APRIL 1st

8x10 PHOTOS — READY TO FRAME . . . 39c
Babies or Adults, 6 for $1.98 (Coloring Extra)

Studio Hours: 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Daily—Photos Taken Rain or Shine
Wed—10 A. M. to 12 Noon

Factors-To-You Furniture Co.

220 MILL ST.

BRISTOL

We wish it were possible to speak to each one of you personally who have called us about fuel during the past winter. That being beyond our ability we are taking this means to say, we think you have been wonderfully patient and cooperative. You have acted as all great Americans in a trial, bravely and uncomplainingly. We have tried desperately hard to be equitable and understanding but if you feel at times we failed, please forgive us, it's a poor excuse but human nature weakens at times under constant pressure. We sincerely thank you and hope the new plan as announced by the Fuel Administration will prevent at least to a degree the disturbing experience of last Winter.

As briefly as we are able to phrase it, the following is the Fuel Administration's plan for distribution of Anthracite and Coke from April 1st, 1944 to March 31st, 1945. Present fuel requirements will be met without the filing of forms.

1. A consumer declaration form must be filled out and placed in the hands of a dealer, who is not permitted to make a delivery until this form is in his possession.

2. Do not file this declaration with more than one dealer for the same property without indicating same on the form.

3. Fill out the form completely.

After the declaration is filed, the following action is permitted:

A. Between April 1st, 1944 and October 1st, 1944, the dealer may deliver 50% (no more) of your declared annual requirement.

B. No consumer is permitted to receive more than 87½% of the declared annual requirement of Anthracite or Coke, the remaining 12½% if required must be a substitute fuel.

C. The filing of the declaration does not automatically constitute an order: you must give specific instructions about an order.

D. The form and the regulations have been created by the Fuel Administration of the U. S. Government. There are penalties imposed on both consumer and dealer for any false statement or violation of the requirements.

E. If you will inform us we will gladly furnish the form and do anything possible to be of assistance.

Again to our host of friends WE THANK YOU.

F. A. SIMONS BROS.

LUMBER PAINT MILLWORK BLDG. MATERIALS

Cornwells 0122 Bristol 3222 Torresdale 7039

CERTIFIED

Seed-Potatoes

All 100-lb Sacks

MAINE

Katahdins $3.35
Sebagoes $3.25
Cobblers $4.00
Mountains $4.00

W. J. Westcott Co.

100 Dock St. Phila., Pa.
Lombard 1090

DR. HENRY H. BISBEE

Optometrist

EYES

EXAMINED

301 Radcliffe St. Bristol, Pa.

Hours by Appointment

Telephone 2443

Dr. E. E. Wildman Will Speak To Club Members

Dr. Edward E. Wildman, of Philadelphia, will speak on conservation and also tell the story of Hawk Mountain, the preserve which provides a home for many hawks, when he appears at the meeting of The Travel Club tomorrow afternoon. The hour of the meeting in the club home is 2:30.

Dr. Wildman, former director of nature study in the Philadelphia public schools, was appointed by Governor Martin as a member of the committee to plan for the state-wide observance of the birth anniversary of William Penn on October 24th, 1944.

Mrs. Earl Tomb will be in charge of the program.

In a Personal Way ---

INTERESTING items of news mainly about people you know. A chronicle of the activities of the people of Bristol; their goings and comings. ---

To arrange for publication of weddings, telephone The Bristol Courier, Bristol 846, notifying at least a few days in advance the date of ceremony. Engagement announcements must be submitted in writing.

Franklin Mershon, Jr., Otter St., has been ill at his home with an attack of gripe.

Mrs. Thomas Campion, a student nurse at Cornell Hospital, New York City, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whyatt, Wilson avenue.

Mrs. William Boyd, Jr., Knoxville, Tenn., is spending ten days with relatives and friends in Bristol.

Cpl. Robert McDonald, has returned to Camp Swift, Texas, after spending a week at his home on McKinley street.

Henry Most, Merchantville, N. J., spent Saturday and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. L. J. Bevan, Dorance street. Mrs. Naomi Warren and Miss Hope Warren, Merchantville, were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Bevan.

John Harman, S. 2/c, who was stationed at Sampson, N. Y., has been transferred to Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Percy, Collingswood, N. J.; and Miss Elizabeth Percy, Philadelphia, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kline and Mrs. Ida Percy, Pond street.

Mrs. William Carson, Linden St., has been recuperating from a re-

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor

Bristol Presbyterian Church

Almighty God, Lord of all mankind, deliver us from doubt and fear. Place within our hearts a strong and abiding faith in Thee which will enable us to believe, regardless of the disappointments and trials which fill our lives. May we not be afraid of the circumstances in which we live, but may we know and believe that there is a loving God and Father above all things, in Whom we live and move, and in Whose presence we are safe. Let us feel the touch of Thy hand upon ours, and see the light of Thy countenance guiding us in our way. In His Name we pray. Amen.

cent fall at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Garretson, Swain street.

The Misses Mary Mancine, Pond street; Gene DiPasquale and Alfreda Lonzenski, Pond street, spent Saturday in New York City.

Mrs. M. Heaton, Washington St., spent the week-end with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Berry, Fort Washington.

Miss Lillian Keers, Trenton avenue, and Mrs. John Martindell, Crofton, spent Sunday in Ventnor, N. J., visiting their niece, Patricia Lebo.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hey, Lan-

ton, N. J., was a guest during the past week of Miss Ellen Boyle, Madison street.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier dreth Manor, were entertained over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mullen, Darby.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanAken, Sr., McKinley street, spent Sunday with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanAken, Jr., Holmesburg, Pa.

Set. Jack Hopkins, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., spent the week-end with his wife at their home on Nelson Court.

J. Horace Cox, who is stationed at Bainbridge, Md., spent the week-end at his home in Landreth Manor.

Miss Louise Marie Gallo, Tren-

ton, N. J., was a guest during the past week of Miss Ellen Boyle, Madison street.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

Set. Jack Hopkins, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., spent the week-end with his wife at their home on Nelson Court.

J. Horace Cox, who is stationed at Bainbridge, Md., spent the week-end at his home in Landreth Manor.

Miss Louise Marie Gallo, Tren-

ton, N. J., was a guest during the past week of Miss Ellen Boyle, Madison street.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The

governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was something of a singer in New York and Michigan in his early years.

Call Bristol 846 and ask for a Classified Ad taker when you want to place a classified ad in the Courier

Chip off old block

ALBANY, N. Y.—(INS)—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., 11, will play one of the lead parts in "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented by the Albany Academy next month. The governor's eldest son seems to be following the musical bent of his father, who was

56 Jurors Selected For Duty at April Court Term

Continued From Page One
Phoebe B. Shelly, Quakertown; Edith B. Taylor, Bristol RD; Leonard C. VanSant, Feasterville; L. Mary K. Leaver, Mechanicsville. Nalda White, Bristol RD 2; Sadie Wentz, Quakertown RD 2; Herbert L. Worthington, Furlong; Walter Waterhouse, Oakford; Samuel C. Wood, Lumberville; William Wille, Bristol RD 2; Inez G. Yardley, Yardley; and Elmer G. Yoder, Quakertown RD 2.

Air Force Lieut. Is Missing in Action

Continued From Page One
high school and before entering the Army, Lieut. Peters was employed by the Midvale Steel Company, Philadelphia. His last visit home was in July, 1943. He has been awarded the air medal and two oak clusters. He is credited with bringing down two German fighter planes.

FBI Agent To Speak To School Directors

Continued From Page One
Philadelphia Board of Education; and Hon. Thomas B. Stockham, a member of the State Legislature. The Doylestown High School Band, under the direction of Earl Frick, will render a concert beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The War at A Glance

Continued From Page One
The Burchard-Low railroad was cut by Soviet tank and infantry forces which captured Kolomyia, fall of which also slashed a rail line running to the Hungarian capital of Budapest, 285 miles to the southwest. Kolomyia guards the approaches to the historic Tartar Pass through the Carpathians. At the other end of the Pass in Ruthenia, former Czechoslovakian territory now held by Hungary. Elsewhere along the flaming Ukrainian battlefronts, Soviet legions drove closer to the Black Sea port of Odessa; killed upwards of 5,000 Germans and captured more than 1,500 others, and seized the important communications center of Balta, 167 miles northwest of Odessa.

On the opposite side of the Balkan Peninsula, specially-trained American combat troops were reported fighting beside British forces and Yugoslav partisans against the German occupational units in Dalmatia. The London Daily Mirror said the Yanks had undergone guerrilla training and have been in operation for several months; they have taken "scores" of Nazi prisoners and inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy.

Across the Adriatic, a withering curtain of fire by Fifth Army artillery batteries churned the Italian Cassino front into a maelstrom of devastation. The Allied bombardment, now in its fourth day, was to thwart fresh Nazi attempts to infiltrate into United Nations positions. The enemy was trying to sneak into advanced points previously evacuated by Indian and New Zealand troops.

Two small enemy attacks against allied beachhead positions were repulsed south of Rome. Patrols were active on all fronts.

From Mediterranean bases, an official communique revealed today, bombers of the United Nations raided the Bulgarian capital of Sofia for the first time in more than a week. The original dispatch failed to identify the Allied targets, but in all previous assaults upon the city the raiders have concentrated upon vital railroad installations.

The air war continued over northwestern Europe, too, with Royal Air Force bombers striking key targets in occupied territories during the night. The British craft swept across the Channel in the wake of yesterday's massive blows by American heavy bombers against the Reich and the French "invasion coast."

In daylight yesterday, U. S. Fortresses hammered the aircraft city of Brunswick while whale-like Liberators struck the Pas de Calais sector of northern France.

The threat to two Indian communications centers mounted with the steady advance of a pair of Japanese tank-paced columns despite strong Allied resistance on the Burmese-India frontier. Though two enemy spearheads were stopped in their drive for Imphal, capital of Manipur State, a third was some

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Continued From Page One

Havoc Wrought on Strong "Jap" Invasion Column

New Delhi—Allied artillery batteries, deep within the Indian jungles, and low-flying warplanes wrought havoc on a strong Jap invasion column today, killing or wounding scores of enemy troops and blasting valuable equipment to bits.

The column, one of four attempting to push into India, was caught in an open stretch northeast of the big Allied supply base at Imphal. Lord Louis Mountbatten announced that at least 2,500 Jap officers and men have been killed since the Allies launched their hard-hitting offensive in central Burma several weeks ago.

Patrols were active south of Maungdaw on the Arakan front, while warplanes attacked important installations over a wide area.

30 miles from this road junction, and another Jap drive was about the same distance from Kohima.

However, in northern Burma Chinese and American forces tightened a noose about encircled Japanese troops.

Giant fires blazed in the wake of a smashing American aerial blow against eight enemy bases in the Southwest Pacific.

a position with the R. A. Hunter Ordnance & Chemical Co., here.

LANGHORNE

Robert Andrassy, of Newtown, formerly of Langhorne, has purchased the residence on North Bellevue avenue recently vacated by Joseph Ridge. Improvements will be made to the property.

Mrs. A. L. Brooks will leave Langhorne to reside in Somerville, N. J.

Peter Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webb, of Glen Lake, is recovering from an appendicitis operation.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS

Mrs. Frank Brown has accepted

Tasty Cranberry-Citrus Combinations

Oranges, lemons and cranberries combine to make many healthful and delicious dishes. The affinity is particularly desirable in salads and sherbets. Below you will find two or three recipes that bear out this assertion admirably.

The recipes require not a single ration point although your sugar coupon will have to be considered. Need I say more?

Orange-Cranberry Relish Salad
2 oranges
1 lemon
2 apples
1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries

2 1/2 cups sugar
Quarter unpeeled oranges, lemon and apples, remove seeds and core and put through food chopper. Put cranberries through food chopper. Combine, add sugar and blend. Let stand a few hours. Use as a relish with meats, hot or cold.

Cranberry Sherbet
1 pound (4 cups) cranberries
2 1/2 cups water
2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/3 cup lemon juice

Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open. Strain, and add sugar and gelatin, softened in cold water. Heat until dissolved. Cool and add lemon juice. Pour into tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze until firm (3 to 4 hours).

Cranberry Ambrosia
2 cups sugar
3 cups water
2 apples

2 oranges
2 cups cranberries
Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add peeled and sliced apples and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Add oranges, cut in thin slices, and cranberries, and continue cooking for 10 minutes longer. Serve cold with meat or poultry or as a dessert.

HERE NOW! NEW FAMILY SIZE
GET THAT VIMMS FEELING!
Vimms $4.79
6 VITAMINS 3 MINERALS
288 tablets - 3 months supply

STRAUS' CUT-RATE

407 MILL ST.

BRISTOL

UNITED CUT-RATE DRUG

231 MILL ST.

PHONE 3125

BRISTOL, PA.

Bargains? HERE THEY ARE

Limited Supply for Thursday Friday and Saturday

PHILLIPS' TOOTH PASTE

Reg. 50c . . 29c

PUREX PEROXIDE

Pint Bottle 17c

KREML HAIR TONIC

$1.25 Size . . 87c

REVLON LIP STICKS

All Shades 60c

helena rubinstein

Heaven-Sent COLOGNE COMPACT

Concentrated essence of Helena Rubinstein's alluring Heaven-Sent in a new compressed form. Fragrance in a compact—to tuck in your purse, locker or desk. Cologne Compact won't evaporate, cannot spill. And its silky texture is non-greasy, delightful to use. So deeply scented and lasting, it's like a fine perfume! Helena Rubinstein Heaven-Sent Cologne Compact, 1.50. Plus tax

IDEAL for FEMINE HYGIENE

Zonite

23c 47c 79c

long-lasting nail lacquer

75c plus tax

If yours is a perfectionist's point of view, we suggest CHEN YU Long-Lasting Nail Lacquer as your "first choice" fingernail make-up. Each shade an original!

Housecleaning Needs

AMAZING PROFESSIONAL MOTHPROOFING METHOD
now available for Home use
LARVEX ONLY 79c pt. $1.19 qt.

ANT BUTTONS

Reg. 25c . . 17c

BLACK FLAG

Pint Size . . 19c

Merck's Dichloride

Pound Box . . 49c

FLY DED

Pint Bottle . . 17c

FLIT SPRAY

Quart Size . . 29c

CAMPBOR

Ball or Flake Large Box . . 10c

APRIL SHOWERS TALC

Large Jumbo Can 39c

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Large Size 79c

NOXZEMA SKIN CREAM

Reg. 35c Jar 29c

Giant Size LISTERINE SHAVING CREAM
Special 29c

ANACIN TABLETS

Tin of 12's 19c
Tin of 30's 39c
Bottle of 50's 59c
Bottle of 100's 98c

4 OUT OF 5 MAY HAVE GINGIVITIS

(A common gum inflammation)

USE FORHAN'S AND MASSAGE

NOW ONLY 39c Forhan's FOR AGING

LOOK LOVELIER WITH
Evening in Paris FACE POWDER
PLUS TAX

FREE Vimms VITAMINS-MINERALS
50c size FREE when you buy large size $2.25
VALUE FOR $1.69

Fat Salvage ABC
is for UTILITY and thousands of war uses for glycerine
MADE FROM YOUR USED FAT
TURN IT IN!

KEM-TONE
The modern miracle wall finish covers wallpaper and washes easily. Dries in one hour.
AUTO BOYS Phone 2816 408-10 Mill St.

INSURANCE JAMES G. JACKSON
"The Man With The Plan"
Life Casualty Fire
Box 64, Croydon, Pa.
Bristol 7734

Safety Legs Prevent Tipping!
BABY HIGH CHAIR
Regularly $12.95 $9.95
Solid comfort for baby in this strong, safe high chair. Sanitary wood serving tray has safety strap... baby can't fall out. Made of natural color hard wood.
AUTO BOYS
408-410 Mill St. Phone 2816

"Green Lane Homes"
Brand New Bungalows With Garage
FOR SALE OR RENT
Ready to Move Into at Once
Latest Improvements, Electric Ranges, Modern Kitchen and Bath Fixtures
Down Payments as Low as $200
Low Monthly Carrying Charge—Reasonable Rentals
Can Obtain Coal for Renters and Purchasers
Apply Sample House on Green Lane from 11 A. M. to 7 P. M.
BRISTOL DEFENSE HOMES, INC., BRISTOL 9987

in beer it's taste that counts
VALLEY FORGE BEER
a taste worthy of the name
W.M. NEIS & SON
124 E. State St.—Telephone Doylestown 4215
Listen to Valley Forge Caravan
KYW nightly 11:05 P. M. (1000 on dial)
ADAM SCHEIDT BREWING CO.
Norristown, Pa.